

400 S. LaSalle Street
Chicago, Illinois 60605

Regulatory Circular RG97-161

Date: December 1, 1997

To: CBOE Member/Member Firms

From: Market Operations
Systems Operations

Re: Expansion of ILX's Basic Package

Please be advised the current basic ILX package will be expanded to include Business Pulse and one Select Ticker window effective January 2, 1998. This enhancement will be at no additional cost to CBOE Member/Member Firms. ILX user id's which currently have only one ILX Select Ticker window will receive this entitlement at no cost. If you have more than one Select Ticker window, the first will be at no charge, each additional at $10.00 per month.

The Business Pulse window shows several economic/business reports for the current day via an ILX database window. The Select Ticker displays NYSE, AMEX, Nasdaq, US Options, US Equities (combined NYSE, AMEX and Nasdaq) trades throughout the day and allows you to select the trading instruments that comprise your ticker. You may specify up to 40 trading instruments and filter the trades in these instruments by size.

In addition, if you currently receive Dow Jones and Reuters News, the Universal News window will now be included in your package. This will allow you to retrieve stories from Dow Jones & Reuters from one window.

Finally, ILX's Intermediate Charts and Options Analytics will now be one entitlement at a special rate to CBOE Member/Member Firms of $25.00 per month. The Intermediate Charts will include Historical, Real-time and Intraday charting. The Options Analytics will include Theoretical pricing with the Implied Volatility Uplift. If you are a current ILX user of Basic/Intermediate Charts or Options Analytics, you will automatically be upgraded to receive both. If you are not a current user and wish to order the above, please contact Steve Pawloski at x7789 or Peter Smith at x7681.