

January LEAP Series Listing Schedule

Reference ID: C2018081701

As announced in Cboe Options Regulatory circular RG17-185, on December 7, 2017 the Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”) approved an Options Listing Procedures Plan (“OLPP”) rule filing submitted by the Exchange. Among other things, the filing changed the earliest date on which new January Long-term Equity Anticipation (“LEAP”) series on equity options, options on Exchange Traded Funds (“ETF”), or options on Trust Issued Receipts (“TIR”) may be added regardless of the specific expiration cycle of an option class. Due to this rule change, beginning this year, Cboe, C2, BZX and EDGX Options Exchanges will list new January LEAP series for trading on the first business day of the September standard monthly expiration week. This year the 2021 January LEAP series for all eligible equity, ETF and TIR options will be added on September 17, 2018.
