

Trading Halt Notifications for Cboe and C2 Options Exchanges

Operational Procedure Change

Effective, February 1, 2018, Cboe and C2 Options Exchanges will discontinue the dissemination of option trading halt notifications via e-mail and text message. In addition, option trading halt notifications will no longer be posted to the Cboe system status page.

Previously, option trading halt notifications were disseminated via e-mail and text message and posted the Cboe system status page when a regulatory halt in the underlying security occurred in the primary market for that security.

Option trading halt notifications will continue to be disseminated through the Options Price Reporting Authority (OPRA) and Cboe Streaming Market (CSM) data feeds.
