

Cboe Options Exchange (C1) Town Hall on Business Continuity Plans Related to Novel Coronavirus

Reference ID: C2020030600

Overview

Applicable Cboe Exchange: Cboe Options

Should Cboe deem it necessary to suspend open outcry trading on the C1 trading floor in an attempt to prevent the spread of novel coronavirus (COVID-19), Cboe is prepared to operate C1 in its previously tested electronic only trading mode. In this mode, the trading floor and all routing to the trading floor will be disabled and unavailable. Orders routed to C1 will be available for electronic processing only via FIX and BOE, similar to all other Cboe options trading platforms. Any orders with instructions to route directly to the floor will be rejected.

On the date and location indicated below, Cboe Options will host a Town Hall meeting to:

- Provide details regarding Exchange Business Continuity Plans in the event of a floor closure
- Review details contained in Cboe's latest Novel Coronavirus Update notice
- Facilitate a question and answer session related to the above

All Cboe TPHs are encouraged to attend in person or via phone.
