

Update - Phone Turret Demonstrations on the Cboe Options Trading Floor

Reference ID: C2020030300

Overview (UPDATED)

All Cboe Options (C1) floor traders are invited to test the potential new turrets for the new C1 trading floor. The turrets will be available on the C1 trading floor for testing daily through Friday, March 6th.

Participation and Feedback (UPDATED)

Cboe will be choosing between the four vendors who have set up completely functional models on the trading floor, next to the SPX pit. Please take the time to test each turret while keeping in mind durability, handset comfort, audio quality and accessibility. After testing the turrets, you will have an opportunity to complete a survey and provide comments about your preference. Additionally, Cboe staff will be available daily before and after trading hours to demonstrate the turrets.

The feedback provided, along with our assessment of the durability, infrastructure and labor requirements of the turrets and installation, will guide decisions on furniture for the new trading floor.

We value your input and look forward to outfitting our new trading floor with the best equipment on the market.
