This allows users to easily and accurately compare market, region and sector performance across Europe.

Bats has also launched a new easy-to-use tool on its website that allows anyone to compare the performance of its indices against each other. The comparison tool, which is currently in beta phase, also allows users to download the index charts as images to use in articles and presentations.

The data for the new indices is available on the Bats Indices website, as well as through various market data vendors. All Bats indices are available free of charge to media clients to distribute in real time. The indices are also free of charge for benchmarking purposes and for vendors to distribute.

Bats launched its index business in June 2016 and now offers 57 indices (calculated in both price and net total return) across 15 markets including 25 national indices, five pan-European indices, one pan-Nordic index, 24 sector indices (12 UK sector indices, 12 European sector indices), and two Bats Brexit 50/50 Indices.
