("CME Holdings")¹ is consummated before the Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission") takes final action on CBOE's pending proposed rule change SR-CBOE-2006-106.² The text of the proposed Interpretation and Policy is provided below (the Interpretation and Policy is completely new, and is therefore underlined).

3. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and the Statutory Basis for the Proposed Rule Change

(a) Purpose

The purpose of this proposed rule change is to address whether or to what extent persons who claim the right to become and remain a member of CBOE (the right to be an "exerciser member") pursuant to paragraph (b) of Article Fifth of the CBOE Certificate of Incorporation ("Article Fifth(b)") should continue temporarily to retain their CBOE membership status after the consummation of the CME/CBOT Transaction and before the Commission has taken final action on SR-CBOE-2006-106.

In SR-CBOE-2006-106, CBOE proposed an interpretation of Article Fifth(b) to address the impact of the CME/CBOT Transaction on the eligibility of persons to be exerciser members. Under this proposed interpretation, the consummation of the CME/CBOT Transaction would result in no persons any longer qualifying as members of the CBOT within the meaning of Article Fifth(b) and, therefore, would result in the elimination of the eligibility of any person thereafter to qualify to be an exerciser member. Although SR-CBOE-2006-106 is pending before the Commission and awaiting action, there is a risk that the proposed CME/CBOT Transaction may be consummated before the Commission is able to act on SR-CBOE-2006-106. In particular, the shareholders of CBOT Holdings and CME Holdings and the holders of certain CBOT memberships are presently scheduled to vote on the proposed transaction on July 9, 2007.

If the CME/CBOT Holdings Transaction is consummated, but the Commission has not yet taken action on CBOE's interpretation in SR-CBOE-2006-106 concerning the effect of that transaction on exercise right eligibility, CBOE will need to implement a procedure to determine whether persons who claim still to qualify as exerciser members should be permitted to retain their membership status, and consequently to trade on CBOE, while a decision on SR-CBOE-2006-106 is pending. In this regard, upon the consummation of the CME/CBOT Transaction, the approval of SR-CBOE-2006-106 would mean that former exerciser members have lost that membership status. However, if the Commission has not taken final action on SR-CBOE-2006-106 when the CME/CBOT Transaction is consummated, those persons may maintain that they are still exerciser members.

Interpretation and Policy .01 deals with these extenuating circumstances by allowing certain categories of those persons temporarily to retain their membership status while SR-CBOE-2006-106 remains pending. In particular, under Interpretation and Policy .01, persons who were exerciser members in good standing as of July 1, 2007 and who remain exerciser members as of the close of business on the day before the consummation of the CME/CBOT Transaction temporarily would retain their membership status – including their trading access to CBOE – until the Commission acts on SR-CBOE-2006-106. Such persons would not be required to take any action to retain their membership status and would not be required to hold or maintain any securities, memberships or other interests in order to maintain that status. Rather, the Exchange would determine who was an exerciser member as of both of the specified dates and would take appropriate action to ensure that those persons retain their membership status after that date until the Commission takes final action SR-CBOE-2006-106. persons would be required to remain in good standing and would need to pay all applicable fees, dues, assessments and other like charges assessed against CBOE members. Of course, this temporary membership status would be subject to the regulatory jurisdiction of the Exchange under the Exchange Act and the Constitution and Rules of the Exchange, including the Exchange's disciplinary jurisdiction under Chapter XVII of the Exchange's rules.

Because such persons would be relieved of the obligation to hold or maintain any securities, memberships or other interests in order to maintain their membership status, they would be required to pay a monthly access fee based on the then current monthly lease fees being paid to lessors of the interest that CBOT denominates as a full CBOT membership. This monthly access fee would be set by the Exchange on a monthly basis, based on published lease fee information, and would be payable starting in the month after the month in which the CME/CBOT Transaction is consummated and lasting until the Commission takes final action on SR-CBOE-2006-106. The Exchange will submit a further proposed rule change, pursuant to Section 19(b)(3)(A)(ii), to specify the access fee to be charged or to specify the methodology by which this access fee will be determined. Any subsequent change in the amount of that access fee or in the methodology for determining that fee also will be submitted as a proposed rule change pursuant to Section 19(b)(3)(A)(ii). Because the Commission would not yet have determined whether to approve SR-CBOE-2006-106 during the period that these access fees were being collected, all access fees collected under this interpretation would be held in an interest-bearing escrow account maintained by the Exchange. The Exchange would retain such fees if the Commission approved SR-CBOE-2006-106, and such fees would be returned to the payor if the Commission disapproved SR-CBOE-2006-106. This access fee addresses the competitive advantage that the persons trading under the membership status granted in Interpretation and Policy .01 otherwise would have over lessees of transferable Exchange memberships, in light of the fact that the former exerciser members would be relieved of their financial obligation to obtain and hold any securities, memberships or other interests in order to maintain their membership status.

Under Interpretation and Policy .01, only persons who were exerciser members as of both of the specified dates, not persons who might thereafter claim the right to become an exerciser member, would have any membership status after the CME/CBOT Transaction, pending the Commission's final action on SR-CBOE-2006-106. CBOE Rule 3.19 provides CBOE with the authority only to allow persons who actually were members to retain their membership status on a temporary basis and does not authorize the granting of such status to persons who were not already CBOE members.

Upon the Commission's final action on SR-CBOE-2006-106, Interpretation and Policy .01 would cease to be in effect, and the rights of persons who claim to be exerciser members would be determined in accordance with the Commission's decision on SR-CBOE-2006-106. Pursuant to the terms of SR-CBOE-2006-106, there would be a different temporary access plan to address transitional issues that would arise from the approval of SR-CBOE-2006-106.

The Exchange believes that Interpretation and Policy .01 is reasonable under the circumstances. It avoids disturbing the trading access of persons who were exerciser members before the consummation of the CME/CBOT Transaction while the Commission is determining whether that transaction has extinguished their eligibility to be exerciser members. This interpretation also preserves fair and orderly markets at CBOE by avoiding the sudden loss of more than 200 persons who presently are contributing liquidity to CBOE's markets. So that persons who do not have a bona fide interest in trading on CBOE do not exercise in reaction to the adoption of Interpretation and Policy .01, a person must have been an exerciser not only as of the close of business on the day immediately before the consummation of the CME/CBOT Transaction, but also as of July 1, 2007, the day immediately before the filing of Interpretation and Policy .01. Under SR-CBOE-2006-106, persons would have had to be an exerciser member as of December 11, 2006 in order to qualify for transitional trading access after the approval of SR-CBOE-2006-106. Interpretation and Policy .01 therefore effectively extends that cut-off date, as it applies to temporary trading access before final action on SR-CBOE-2006-106, more than six months to July 1, 2007.

(b) Statutory Basis

The Exchange believes that this filing is consistent with Section 6(b) of the Exchange Act,³ in general, and furthers the objectives of Section 6(b)(5) of the Exchange Act.⁴ In particular, this interpretation is designed to promote just and equitable principles of trade, to remove impediments to, and perfect the mechanism of a free and open market and, in general, to protect investors and the public interest.⁵

4. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Burden on Competition

The Exchange does not believe that the proposed rule change will impose any burden on competition that is not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Exchange Act.

II. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

In its filing with the Commission, CBOE included statements concerning the purpose of and basis for the proposed rule change and discussed any comments it received on the proposed rule change. The text of these statements may be examined at the places specified in Item IV below. CBOE has prepared summaries, set forth in sections (A), (B), and (C) below, of the most significant aspects of such statements.

A. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory
Basis for, Proposed Rule Change

(a) Purpose

The purpose of this proposed rule change is to address whether or to what extent persons who claim the right to become and remain a member of CBOE (the right to be an "exerciser member") pursuant to paragraph (b) of Article Fifth of the CBOE Certificate of Incorporation ("Article Fifth(b)") should continue temporarily to retain their CBOE membership status after the consummation of the CME/CBOT Transaction and before the Commission has taken final action on SR-CBOE-2006-106.

In SR-CBOE-2006-106, CBOE proposed an interpretation of Article Fifth(b) to address the impact of the CME/CBOT Transaction on the eligibility of persons to be exerciser members. Under this proposed interpretation, the consummation of the CME/CBOT Transaction would result in no persons any longer qualifying as members of the CBOT within the meaning of Article Fifth(b) and, therefore, would result in the elimination of the eligibility of any person thereafter to qualify to be an exerciser member. Although SR-CBOE-2006-106 is pending before the Commission and awaiting action, there is a risk that the proposed CME/CBOT Transaction may be consummated before the Commission is able to act on SR-CBOE-2006-106. In particular, the shareholders of CBOT Holdings and CME Holdings and the holders of certain CBOT memberships are presently scheduled to vote on the proposed transaction on July 9, 2007.

If the CME/CBOT Holdings Transaction is consummated, but the Commission has not yet taken action on CBOE's interpretation in SR-CBOE-2006-106 concerning the effect of that transaction on exercise right eligibility, CBOE will need to implement a procedure to determine whether persons who claim still to qualify as exerciser members should be permitted to retain their membership status, and consequently to trade on CBOE, while a decision on SR-CBOE-2006-106 is pending. In this regard, upon the consummation of the CME/CBOT Transaction, the approval of SR-CBOE-2006-106 would mean that former exerciser members have lost that membership status. However, if the Commission has not taken final action on SR-CBOE-2006-106 when the CME/CBOT Transaction is consummated, those persons may maintain that they are still exerciser members.

Interpretation and Policy .01 deals with these extenuating circumstances by allowing certain categories of those persons temporarily to retain their membership status while SR-CBOE-2006-106 remains pending. In particular, under Interpretation and Policy .01, persons who were exerciser members in good standing as of July 1, 2007 and who remain exerciser members as of the close of business on the day before the consummation of the CME/CBOT Transaction temporarily would retain their membership status – including their trading access to CBOE – until the Commission acts on SR-CBOE-2006-106. Such persons would not be required to take any action to retain their membership status and would not be required to hold or maintain any securities, memberships or other interests in order to maintain that status. Rather, the Exchange would determine who was an exerciser member as of both of the specified dates and would take appropriate action to ensure that those persons retain their membership status after that date until the Commission takes final action SR-CBOE-2006-106. Such persons would be required to remain in good standing and would need to pay all applicable fees, dues, assessments and other like charges assessed against CBOE members. Of course, this temporary membership status would be subject to the regulatory jurisdiction of the Exchange under the Exchange Act and the Constitution and Rules of the Exchange, including the Exchange's disciplinary jurisdiction under Chapter XVII of the Exchange's rules.

Because such persons would be relieved of the obligation to hold or maintain any securities, memberships or other interests in order to maintain their membership status, they would be required to pay a monthly access fee based on the then current monthly lease fees being paid to lessors of the interest that CBOT denominates as a full CBOT membership. This monthly access fee would be set by the Exchange on a monthly basis, based on published lease fee information, and would be payable starting in the month after the month in which the CME/CBOT Transaction is consummated and lasting until the Commission takes final action on SR-CBOE-2006-106. The Exchange will submit a further proposed rule change, pursuant to Section 19(b)(3)(A)(ii), to specify the access fee to be charged or to specify the methodology by which this access fee will be determined. Any subsequent change in the amount of that access fee or in the methodology for determining that fee also will be submitted as a proposed rule change pursuant to Section 19(b)(3)(A)(ii). Because the Commission would not yet have determined whether to approve SR-CBOE-2006-106 during the period that these access fees were being collected, all access fees collected under this interpretation would be held in an interest-bearing escrow account maintained by the Exchange. The Exchange would retain such fees if the Commission approved SR-CBOE-2006-106, and such fees would be returned to the payor if the Commission disapproved SR-CBOE-2006-106. This access fee addresses the competitive advantage that the persons trading under the membership status granted in Interpretation and Policy .01 otherwise would have over lessees of transferable Exchange memberships, in light of the fact that the former exerciser members would be relieved of their financial obligation to obtain and hold any securities, memberships or other interests in order to maintain their membership status.

Under Interpretation and Policy .01, only persons who were exerciser members as of both of the specified dates, not persons who might thereafter claim the right to become an exerciser member, would have any membership status after the CME/CBOT Transaction, pending the Commission's final action on SR-CBOE-2006-106. CBOE Rule 3.19 provides CBOE with the authority only to allow persons who actually were members to retain their membership status on a temporary basis and does not authorize the granting of such status to persons who were not already CBOE members.

Upon the Commission's final action on SR-CBOE-2006-106, Interpretation and Policy .01 would cease to be in effect, and the rights of persons who claim to be exerciser members would be determined in accordance with the Commission's decision on SR-

CBOE-2006-106. Pursuant to the terms of SR-CBOE-2006-106, there would be a different temporary access plan to address transitional issues that would arise from the approval of SR-CBOE-2006-106.

The Exchange believes that Interpretation and Policy .01 is reasonable under the circumstances. It avoids disturbing the trading access of persons who were exerciser members before the consummation of the CME/CBOT Transaction while the Commission is determining whether that transaction has extinguished their eligibility to be exerciser members. This interpretation also preserves fair and orderly markets at CBOE by avoiding the sudden loss of more than 200 persons who presently are contributing liquidity to CBOE's markets. So that persons who do not have a bona fide interest in trading on CBOE do not exercise in reaction to the adoption of Interpretation and Policy .01, a person must have been an exerciser not only as of the close of business on the day immediately before the consummation of the CME/CBOT Transaction, but also as of July 1, 2007, the day immediately before the filing of Interpretation and Policy .01. Under SR-CBOE-2006-106, persons would have had to be an exerciser member as of December 11, 2006 in order to qualify for transitional trading access after the approval of SR-CBOE-2006-106. Interpretation and Policy .01 therefore effectively extends that cut-off date, as it applies to temporary trading access before final action on SR-CBOE-2006-106, more than six months to July 1, 2007.

(b) Statutory Basis

The Exchange believes that this filing is consistent with Section 6(b) of the Exchange Act,³ in general, and furthers the objectives of Section 6(b)(5) of the Exchange Act.⁴ In particular, this interpretation is designed to promote just and equitable principles of trade, to remove impediments to, and perfect the mechanism of a free and open market and, in general, to protect investors and the public interest.⁵
