(a) Cboe Exchange, Inc. (the “Exchange” or “Cboe Options”) proposes to amend the Silexx trading platform (“Silexx” or the “platform”) Fees Schedule. The text of the proposed rule change is provided in Exhibit 5.

Item 3. Self-Regulatory Organization’s Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

(a) Purpose

The purpose of this filing is to amend the Silexx Fees Schedule to adopt a new “drop copy” fee. The fee herein will be effective on December 2, 2019.

By way of background, Silexx is an order entry and management trading platform for listed stocks and options that support both simple and complex orders.¹ The platform is a software application that is installed locally on a user’s desktop. It provides users with the capability to send option orders to U.S. options exchanges and stock orders to ¹ The platform also permits users to submit orders for commodity futures, commodity options and other non-security products to be sent to designated contract markets, futures commission merchants, introducing brokers or other applicable destinations of the users’ choice.

U.S. stock exchanges (and other trading centers), and allows users to input parameters to control the size, timing, and other variables of their trades. It also includes access to real-time options and stock market data, as well as access to certain historical data. Silexx is designed so that a user may route FLEX orders directly to the Exchange or enter orders into the platform to send to an executing broker (including Trading Permit Holders (“TPHs”)) of its choice with connectivity to the platform, which broker will then send the orders to Cboe Options (if the broker is a TPH) or other U.S. exchanges (and trading centers) in accordance with the user’s instructions. Silexx is a front-end order entry and management system that interfaces to the systems of various broker-dealers that elect to connect to the platform. Silexx grants users licenses to use the platform, and a firm or individual does not need to be a TPH to license the platform. Use of Silexx is completely optional.

Financial Information eXchange (“FIX”) is an industry-standard, non-proprietary application program interface (“API”) that permits market participants to connect to exchanges. FIX language-based connectivity, upon request, provides customers (both TPHs and non-TPHs) of TPHs that are brokers and PULSe² users (“PULSe brokers”) with the ability to receive “drop copy” order fill messages from their PULSe brokers. These fill messages allows customers to update positions, risk calculations, and streamline back-office functions. Recently, the Exchange has performed an integration between Silexx and PULSe to allow communication between the two systems via a FIX hub. As a result, Silexx front-end users and Silexx integrated partners (i.e., third-party platforms connected to Silexx) have access to the PULSe drop copy network. Therefore, both Silexx users and third-party platforms connected to Silexx may send notice execution messages to PULSe, who will then forward such messages on to its network participants.

² The PULSe workstation is a front-end order entry system designed for use with respect to orders that may be sent to the trading systems of the Exchange. TPHs may make PULSe workstations available to their customers, which may include TPHs, non-broker dealer public customers, and non-TPH broker dealers.

In light of the integration between Silexx and PULSe, the Exchange proposes to adopt fees for the functionality that would allow users to receive drop copies via the PULSe network from non-PULSe, non-Silexx workstations. For example, if a TPH sends its order to a third-party for execution, and that third-party submits the order to the Exchange through its own front-end system, but wishes to utilize the PULSe network to send the order fill message back to the TPH, that third-party would be assessed a fee. Particularly, the Exchange proposes to adopt a $500 per month fee per receiving TPH or non-TPH payable by the non-TPH using the PULSe network to send drop copies from non-PULSe, non-Silexx workstations.

(b) Statutory Basis

The Exchange believes the proposed rule change is consistent with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the “Act”) and the rules and regulations thereunder applicable to the Exchange and, in particular, the requirements of Section 6(b) of the Act.³ Specifically, the Exchange believes the proposed rule change is consistent with the Section 6(b)(5)⁴ requirements that the rules of an exchange be designed to prevent fraudulent and manipulative acts and practices, to promote just and equitable principles of trade, to foster cooperation and coordination with persons engaged in regulating, clearing, settling, processing information with respect to, and facilitating transactions in securities, to remove impediments to and perfect the mechanism of a free and open market and a national market system, and, in general, to protect investors and the public interest. Additionally, the Exchange believes the proposed rule change is consistent with Section 6(b)(4) of the Act,⁵ which requires that Exchange rules provide for the equitable allocation of reasonable dues, fees, and other charges among its Trading Permit Holders and other persons using its facilities.

³ 15 U.S.C. 78f(b).

The Exchange believes that the proposed fee is reasonable as it is similar to other established Silexx fees related to drop-copy functionality.⁶ Additionally, the proposed fee would support the introduction of a new drop copy functionality that provides an alternative means for customers to receive their fill messages. Particularly, the new drop copy functionality provides third-party platforms connected to Silexx the ability to leverage the existing infrastructure of the PULSe drop copy network, which provides market participants with the ability to receive valuable information about transactions executed across the market place. By utilizing the existing infrastructure, customers already connected to PULSe may experience cost savings by eliminating the need to connect to another platform to receive drop copies. Further, third-party platforms connected to Silexx may experience lower fees than those of competitor providers charging for drop copies, and customers will be charged no additional fee to receive such drop copies via PULSe. As noted above, the drop copy fill messages allow customers to update positions, risk calculations, and streamline back-office functions. The Exchange notes that the decision as to whether or not to utilize the PULSe drop copy network is entirely optional for all users.

The Exchange believes that assessing the proposed fee to market participants using non-PULSe, non-Silexx terminals is equitable and not unfairly discriminatory as PULSe and Silexx terminal users already pay monthly fees related to the use of such workstations and access to the PULSe network. The Exchange believes the fee is equitable and not unfairly discriminatory because the monthly fee is assessed uniformly to any market participant who sends drop copies through the PULSe network from non-PULSe, non-Silexx workstations.

Item 4. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Burden on Competition

Cboe Options does not believe that the proposed rule change will impose any burden on competition that is not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act. The Exchange does not believe that the proposed rule change will impose any burden on intramarket competition that is not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act because the proposed drop copy fee is assessed equally to similarly situated market participants electing to use the drop copy functionality.

The Exchange does not believe that the proposed change will cause any unnecessary burden on intermarket competition because the proposed fee relates to the use of an Exchange-supported order entry management system. To the extent that any proposed change makes the Exchange a more attractive marketplace for market participants at other exchanges, such market participants are welcome to become Exchange market participants.

Item 5. Self-Regulatory Organization’s Statement on Comments on the Proposed Rule Change Received from Members, Participants, or Others

The Exchange neither solicited nor received comments on the proposed rule change.

Item 6. Extension of Time Period for Commission Action

Not applicable.

Item 7. Basis for Summary Effectiveness Pursuant to Section 19(b)(3) or for Accelerated Effectiveness Pursuant to Section 19(b)(2) or Section 19(b)(7)(D)

(b) The Exchange designates that the proposed rule change establishes or changes a due, fee, or other charge imposed by the Exchange, which renders the proposed rule change effective upon filing with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the “Commission”). At any time within 60 days of the filing of this proposed rule change, the Commission summarily may temporarily suspend such rule change if it appears to the Commission that such action is necessary or appropriate in the public interest, for the protection of investors, or otherwise in furtherance of the purposes of the Act. If the Commission takes such action, the Commission will institute proceedings to determine whether the proposed rule change should be approved or disapproved.

II. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

In its filing with the Commission, the Exchange included statements concerning the purpose of and basis for the proposed rule change and discussed any comments it received on the proposed rule change. The text of these statements may be examined at the places specified in Item IV below. The Exchange has prepared summaries, set forth in sections A, B, and C below, of the most significant aspects of such statements.

A. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

1. Purpose

The purpose of this filing is to amend the Silexx Fees Schedule to adopt a new “drop copy” fee. The fee herein will be effective on December 2, 2019.

By way of background, Silexx is an order entry and management trading platform for listed stocks and options that support both simple and complex orders.³ The platform is a software application that is installed locally on a user's desktop. It provides users with the capability to send option orders to U.S. options exchanges and stock orders to U.S. stock exchanges (and other trading centers), and allows users to input parameters to control the size, timing, and other variables of their trades. It also includes access to real-time options and stock market data, as well as access to certain historical data. Silexx is designed so that a user may route FLEX orders directly to the Exchange or enter orders into the platform to send to an executing broker (including Trading Permit Holders (“TPHs”)) of its choice with connectivity to the platform, which broker will then send the orders to Cboe Options (if the broker is a TPH) or other U.S. exchanges (and trading centers) in accordance with the user's instructions. Silexx is a front-end order entry and management system that interfaces to the systems of various broker-dealers that elect to connect to the platform. Silexx grants users licenses to use the platform, and a firm or individual does not need to be a TPH to license the platform. Use of Silexx is completely optional.

Financial Information eXchange ("FIX") is an industry-standard, non-proprietary application program interface ("API") that permits market participants to connect to exchanges. FIX language-based connectivity, upon request, provides customers (both TPHs and non-TPHs) of TPHs that are brokers and PULSe⁴ users ("PULSe brokers") with the ability to receive "drop copy" order fill messages from their PULSe brokers. These fill messages allows customers to update positions, risk calculations, and streamline back-office functions. Recently, the Exchange has performed an integration between Silexx and PULSe to allow communication between the two systems via a FIX hub. As a result, Silexx front-end users and Silexx integrated partners (i.e., third-party platforms connected to Silexx) have access to the PULSe drop copy network. Therefore, both Silexx users and third-party platforms connected to Silexx may send notice execution messages to PULSe, who will then forward such messages on to its network participants.

In light of the integration between Silexx and PULSe, the Exchange proposes to adopt fees for the functionality that would allow users to receive drop copies via the PULSe network from non-PULSe, non-Silexx workstations. For example, if a TPH sends its order to a third-party for execution, and that third-party submits the order to the Exchange through its own front-end system, but wishes to utilize the PULSe network to send the order fill message back to the TPH, that third-party would be assessed a fee. Particularly, the Exchange proposes to adopt a $500 per month fee per receiving TPH or non-TPH payable by the non-TPH using the PULSe network to send drop copies from non-PULSe, non-Silexx workstations.

2. Statutory Basis

The Exchange believes the proposed rule change is consistent with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the “Act”) and the rules and regulations thereunder applicable to the Exchange and, in particular, the requirements of Section 6(b) of the Act.⁵ Specifically, the Exchange believes the proposed rule change is consistent with the Section 6(b)(5)⁶ requirements that the rules of an exchange be designed to prevent fraudulent and manipulative acts and practices, to promote just and equitable principles of trade, to foster cooperation and coordination with persons engaged in regulating, clearing, settling, processing information with respect to, and facilitating transactions in securities, to remove impediments to and perfect the mechanism of a free and open market and a national market system, and, in general, to protect investors and the public interest. Additionally, the Exchange believes the proposed rule change is consistent with Section 6(b)(4) of the Act,⁷ which requires that Exchange rules provide for the equitable allocation of reasonable dues, fees, and other charges among its Trading Permit Holders and other persons using its facilities.

The Exchange believes that the proposed fee is reasonable as it is similar to other established Silexx fees related to drop-copy functionality.⁸ Additionally, the proposed fee would support the introduction of a new drop copy functionality that provides an alternative means for customers to receive their fill messages. Particularly, the new drop copy functionality provides third-party platforms connected to Silexx the ability to leverage the existing infrastructure of the PULSe drop copy network, which provides market participants with the ability to receive valuable information about transactions executed across the market place. By utilizing the existing infrastructure, customers already connected to PULSe may experience cost savings by eliminating the need to connect to another platform to receive drop copies. Further, third-party platforms connected to Silexx may experience lower fees than those of competitor providers charging for drop copies, and customers will be charged no additional fee to receive such drop copies via PULSe. As noted above, the drop copy fill messages allow customers to update positions, risk calculations, and streamline back-office functions. The Exchange notes that the decision as to whether or not to utilize the PULSe drop copy network is entirely optional for all users.

The Exchange believes that assessing the proposed fee to market participants using non-PULSe, non-Silexx terminals is equitable and not unfairly discriminatory as PULSe and Silexx terminal users already pay monthly fees related to the use of such workstations and access to the PULSe network. The Exchange believes the fee is equitable and not unfairly discriminatory because the monthly fee is assessed uniformly to any market participant who sends drop copies through the PULSe network from non-PULSe, non-Silexx workstations.

B. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Burden on Competition

Cboe Options does not believe that the proposed rule change will impose any burden on competition that is not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act. The Exchange does not believe that the proposed rule change will impose any burden on intramarket competition that is not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act because the proposed drop copy fee is assessed equally to similarly situated market participants electing to use the drop copy functionality.

The Exchange does not believe that the proposed change will cause any unnecessary burden on intermarket competition because the proposed fee relates to the use of an Exchange-supported order entry management system. To the extent that any proposed change makes the Exchange a more attractive marketplace for market participants at other exchanges, such market participants are welcome to become Exchange market participants.

C. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Comments on the Proposed Rule Change Received from Members, Participants, or Others

The Exchange neither solicited nor received comments on the proposed rule change.

III. Date of Effectiveness of the Proposed Rule Change and Timing for Commission Action

The foregoing rule change has become effective pursuant to Section 19(b)(3)(A) of the Act⁹ and paragraph (f) of Rule 19b-4¹⁰ thereunder. At any time within 60 days of the filing of the proposed rule change, the Commission summarily may temporarily suspend such rule change if it appears to the Commission that such action is necessary or appropriate in the public interest, for the protection of investors, or otherwise in furtherance of the purposes of the Act. If the Commission takes such action, the Commission will institute proceedings to determine whether the proposed rule change should be approved or disapproved.
